

Advances in Circum - Pacific Earth and Marine Resources and Hazards – the George Gryc Memorial Symposium

Co sponsored by: U.S. Geological Survey, Circum Pacific Council and Stanford University

- Advances in seafloor mapping: fish habitats to natural hazards
- Earthquake and volcano hazards along the Pacific Rim of Fire
- Energy and mineral resources in Russia and the Arctic Basin
- Circum-Pacific population pressures and why the science matters
- And a retrospective on the long, productive career of George Gryc and how his work changed the USGS and our views of Alaska

Wednesday, April 15, 2009
8:30 AM - 5:00 PM

U.S. Geological Survey
Bldg. 3, Conference Room A
345 Middlefield Road
Menlo Park, CA

Lunch will be provided by CPC

A social event sponsored by the CPC will immediately follow the symposium.

For questions and reservations please email:
David Howell at dghowell@stanford.edu

